Title:	Anglo-Austrian Society and Anglo-Austrian Music Society Archive
Dates:	1914, 1940-2015
Level:	fonds
Extent and Medium:	56 boxes (of which 4 are oversized)
Name of Creator:	Anglo-Austrian Society and Anglo-Austrian Music Society

Archival History:

This archive forms one of the Exile Studies collections acquired through the Research Centre for German and Austrian Exile Studies at the Institute for Modern Languages Research. The first deposit of around 30 boxes came from the Anglo-Austrian Society in 2006 via the Wiener Library with the help of Professor Charmian Brinson of the Research Centre for German and Austrian Exile Studies. Further deposits were made in 2009 and 2016.

CONTEXT

Biographical/Administrative History:

The Anglo-Austrian Society (until 1947 the Anglo-Austrian Democratic Society) was founded in 1944 by refugees from Nazi-occupied Austria who wanted to 'spread understanding of the importance of Austrian democracy for peace and progress', and to promote closer contact between British and Austrian democrats.

The focus of its initial work at the end of the Second World War was to provide relief to Austrians in general and to Austrian children in particular. In the post-war period the Society's worked to promote cross-cultural links between the people of the United Kingdom and Austria by developing the knowledge of the British people about Austria, its people and culture, with the participation of Austrians resident in Britain. The Society was partly subsidised by the Austrian governments, and for some years after the War it was the main body to represent and promote Austrian culture in the UK. The Society is [in 2019] still active, running events for members and providing financial support through the Otto Harpner Fund for researchers from the UK wishing to travel to Austria.

The Anglo-Austrian Music Society was founded in London in the autumn of 1942 by a small group of Austrian refugee musicians and a few English friends led by Austrian refugee musician Ferdinand Rauter - initially as a means of surviving in exile, but also to promote the appreciation and understanding of Austrian music in Britain. They gave concerts throughout the war, and increasingly involved British musicians and British music. In 1946 the administration was merged with that of the Anglo-Austrian Society with Otto Harpner as Secretary of both societies, and visits to Britain by Austrian artists began. The Vienna State Opera came to Covent Garden in 1947, and the Vienna Philharmonic Orchestra first played in London for the Society in 1948. The Vienna Boys Choir visited almost every year from 1950 to 2000, and the Society commissioned Benjamin Britten to write the opera The Golden Vanity for the Choir. Harpner died in 1959 and his position as Secretary was taken by Walter Foster.

Over the years the Anglo-Austrian Music Society has sponsored appearances by many famous artists including Elisabeth Schumann, Kathleen Ferrier, Richard Tauber, Bruno Walter, Clemens Kraus, Myra Hess, Josef Krips, Benjamin Britten and Peter Pears. There have been many concerts and debut recitals by young Austrian musicians - starting in 1949 with the young Friedrich Gulda and continuing through the years with Paul Badura-Skoda, Joerg Demus, Ingrid Haebler, Irmgard Seefried, Wolfgang Schneiderhan, Heinz Medjimorec, Heinrich Schiff, the Alban Berg Quartet, The Haydn Trio, Edita Gruberova, Ernst Kovacic, Thomas Riebl and Stefan Vladar amongst many others

CONTENT

Scope and Content:

This archive contains the records of the Anglo-Austrian Society and Anglo-Austrian Music Society and their subsidiary bodies, the Anglo-Austrian Concert Agency Limited, Austrian Travel Ltd and Anglo-Austrian Tour Agency Ltd. The records include committee minutes, memoranda, correspondence, financial records, photographic material, newsletters and one-off publications by the AAS and AAMS, and other forms of publicity material such as leaflets and flyers.

Although the Anglo-Austrian Society and the Anglo-Austrian Music Society started out as separate bodies (and indeed, remained so until at least the point at which the archive was catalogued in 2019), for much of their history they were run from the same administrative office and by the same staff, and the records of their activities were, to some extent, merged into the same filing system. Some record series therefore consist of records relating to both societies, while others relate to one or the other of the societies alone.

The record series comprising records of both (and in some cases also the subsidiary) Anglo-Austrian bodies are: AAS/1, which contains records relating to the constitution and structure of the Anglo-Austrian group of organisations, including Memoranda and Articles of Association and related correspondence, particularly in relation to the incorporation of the AAS in 1958; AAS/4, containing annual reports and activities reports of the Anglo-Austrian and Anglo-Austrian Music Societies, some written by the Secretariat for the AAS Executive Committee, some by the Executive Committee for the AGM or the wider public; AAS/5, which contains both societies' accounts and other financial records; AAS/6, containing copies of annual returns for the Register of Director; AAS/15, which contains publicity material for the full range of activities carried out by the AAS and AAMS, from lectures to concerts to language courses; and finally, AAS/17, which contains direct mail communications such as newsletters.

The series relating to the internal mechanisms of solely the Anglo-Austrian Society and its sub-committees are: AAS/2 (minutes) and AAS/3 (correspondence), and the record series relating to activities primarily carried out by the Anglo-Austrian Society are: AAS/11 (Austrian Children Reception Committee and Children's Holiday Committee records); AAS/13 (the Spanish Riding School); AAS/14 (Special events and trips). Records of subventions by the Austrian government are in AAS/16 and records of property are in AAS/18. These are mentioned here because the AAS was the dominant organisation (the legal recipient of the subsidies and owner of the property), although it should be noted that AAMS made a substantial contribution to all costs.

The minutes and reports, correspondence and accounts of the Anglo-Austrian Music Society is AAS/7. There are unfortunately very few items of correspondence dating from approximately the first 20 years of the AAMS's existence, and the main source of information about the early history of the AAMS is the Executive Committee minutes in AAS/7/2. The records of concerts and tours organised by the AAMS (in some cases jointly organised with the AAS) are in AAS/12, with sub-series AAS/12/16 containing correspondence, contracts and publicity material relating to the tours by the Vienna Boys' Choir from 1950.

- AAS/4 Anglo-Austrian Society and Anglo-Austrian Music Society annual and activities reports (internal and public) 1946-1996
This series incorporates various forms of AAS and AAMS reports for different audiences. The majority of them are typescripts; some were written by the Secretariat for the AAS Executive Committee, some by the Executive Committee for the AGM, and others were written by the Secretary for members or the wider public. Some are in English and some in German. There is also a small number of AAS and AAMS Annual Reports published in booklet form, but covering only the years 1946-1947 and 1948-1949 and 1966 [so assumed to be a very incomplete series]. There are also four copies of the report published to mark the AAS 25th Anniversary. Some of the material in this series is similar in function to that in AAS/17 (Communications with members), though the reports in this series tend to be more aimed at an internal audience.

AAS/15/2	Publicity material	1946
	Includes 2 circular letters: 1) concerning the meeting held by the Anglo-Austrian Democratic Society at Beaver Hall in Great Trinity Lane in London on 17 May 1946 making one year of Austria's liberation, at which the two main speakers were Jenny Lee M.P. and Dr Oscar Pollak, Editor-in-Chief of the Arbeiterzeitung in Vienna; 2) dated October 1946 informing readers that just because Austria had been liberated from Nazi domination, there was still much to be done with regard to the level of hunger and disease in Austria and also with regard to the fight for an independent and democratic Austria. The letter suggests that the best way to help is to join the Society. There are also 2 copies of a leaflet published in 1945 entitled 'The Anglo-Austrian Democratic Society' with an appeal by T. L. Horabin to readers to join the Society.

AAS/17/25/35 Typescripts of articles submitted for publishing in Anglo-Austrian newsletter 2008

Two typescripts of memoirs by Jussi Brainin and Margaret Lant respectively, the latter writing about her husband Rainer Lant, and another article about the Schubertiade by Alan [unknown surname]. There are letters from Brainin and Alan [?] offering the articles to Peter Gieler [editor of Felix Austria] for publication. It is not known whether they were in fact published or not, but in the Editorial of the Autumn 2008 edition of Felix Austria (Volume 5 Issue 3), Gieler wrote that he was 'grateful for the contributions ... received from members' and that he had 'created a file of these wonderful memories and [was] considering publishing them in a series of electronic booklets for members which would be available on the web site'. Previously in AAS/2016/Box 5.

AAS/17/26 Loose pages of the Chiltern Group of the Anglo-Austrian Society Christmas newsletter, G'schichtern aus dem Chilternland 2001 December

Edited by Peter Gieler. [The Chiltern Stammtisch was started and run by Peter Lance from February 1998, following the decision of the Anglo-Austrian Society's trustees to encourage to form local groups. His role was taken over by Gieler, who continued being the main contact and organiser until he became the Secretary of the Anglo-Austrian Society.

Gieler instigated this local newsletter in May 1998 and continued it on a quarterly basis.] Previously in AAS/2016/Box 1/File 2.

AAS/19 Partner organisations 1947-2013

From early on in its existence the Anglo-Austrian Society worked in partnership with other organisations. Some of the records of these partnerships are integrated into other series, such as the joint relief work schemes involving the organisations Friends of Austria and the International Friendship League in AAS/19, and the education exchange scheme with the Österreichisches Komitee für Internationalen Studentenaustausch (records of the termination of this partnership are in AAS/3/12). The records in this series (AAS/19) concern a variety of partnerships. In some cases (particularly the records in AAS/19/1, the Rehabilitation of Asozial Youth in Austria Committee, and AAS/19/2, the Educational Interchange Council), they consist primarily of the records (especially minutes) of the partner organisation itself, rather than AAS own records of their work with others. In such cases these records are nevertheless a constituent part of the AAS archives because the AAS Secretary attended their council meetings or was on their Executive Board. One of the recommendations of the AAS Transitional Committees' meetings in 2001-2002 was that the AAS should work more with similar organisations, which possibility explains the proliferation of records of partnership working from around that time.

2 boxes

AAS/19/1 Rehabilitation of Asozial Youth in Austria Committee (RAYAC) minutes 1947 July-1950 July

RAYAC minutes and associated papers. RAYAC was one of a number of relief societies working in Austria whose representatives attended a meeting in November and December 1947 called by the Anglo-Austrian Society to avoid overlapping of relief work. RAYAC is described in the AAS EC minutes of April 1949 as a voluntary organisation which had given considerable assistance to the social authorities of Vienna city council. The same minutes also state that following their search for an Assistant Secretary for the AAS, Dr Wodak and Dr Harpner considered Mrs Oliva Payton, who was then the Honorary Secretary of RAYAC, to be the most suitable candidate in view of her efforts in dealing with the problem of asocial youth. Olivia Payton appears to have been appointed as AAS Assistant Secretary as she attended AAS EC meetings from this date. At the same time she was also attending RAYAC meetings. Otto Harpner also appears to have been invited to attend RAYAC meetings (eg the minutes of 25 February 1949, which register his apologies for absence), although it is not clear whether he was actually a member of RAYAC. Previously in AAS/2006.

1 folder

AAS/19/2 Educational Interchange Council

1971-1983

The Anglo-Austrian Society began to work with the EIC in 1948. The minutes of the AAS EC of 21 July 1948 record that in agreement with the EIC the AAS had started a scheme arranging individual exchanges between Austrians and British. At the same meeting the Chair also welcomed Mr Rowntree, a member of the EIC Executive Board, to join the AAS EC so that in addition to Otto Harpner being on the Executive of the EIC there would be another link between the two organisations. This sub-series includes meeting minutes and other EIC papers acquired in the course of AAS Secretary Walter Foster's activities as a member of the EIC Executive Committee. It is not clear why this sub-series only begins in 1971 given that the two organisations worked in partnership from 1948.
